

Firefly Trio

plays a swinging mix of jazz standards and original tunes. Each member, an accomplished musician; together, they create an ambiance that will enthrall audiences.

Kevin Jones (guitar) has been playing guitar since the age of twelve after a childhood studying piano and trumpet. He gravitated to jazz as his desire grew to use the guitar as a tool "to be able to play what I hear in my head." Kevin studied jazz at SDSU and was a member of the Nathan Hubbard Trio which received "Best Jazz Album" at the San Diego Music Awards. Kevin worked full time in a variety of musical contexts in the San Diego area before moving to Ithaca in 2019.

Seth Carrithers (acoustic bass) has been a musician and educator for over 25 years. Working in various jazz ensembles, Seth has performed with many great musicians, including internationally known recording artists such as Benny Golson and Jerry Hahn. Seth taught private bass lessons, music history, and coached jazz combos at Friends University and now teaches in Ithaca at CSMA. He holds a Master of Music Degree from Wichita State University.

Keith Evan Green (drums) plays inspired music of all styles with a focus on small-group jazz. Keith studied at the NJ School of Percussion and was a music major at Northwestern University. He performed at Carnegie Hall with the orchestra of Fairleigh Dickinson University and also performed with the New Jersey All-State Band. Keith played throughout the NYC metro area, and has performed and taught, also, in Seattle and San Francisco.
